Sammy the Seal is a fun book about a seal who lives in a zoo, and he wants to see what's outside the zoo. Mr. Johnson, the zookeeper, lets Sammy the seal out of his cage (what?!) so he can explore the city. He wanders the streets and observes people, jumps into a man's bathtub, and eventually ends up in an elementary school classroom.

Sammy's mother wasn't sure how to answer; she'd often seen him gazing out onto the land, a wistful look on his face. "Well, dear, our species live in the water, and people live on the land." "But why, mama? They can do both; play on the sand and swim in the ocean!!" Sammy was such a curious little guy and asked many questions.
